

Meanwhile, experts forecast gold futures to hit a new record high this week, on the back of rising physical demand and as investors seek a hedge against inflation.